Seven-year-old Navin (name changed) has been battling with kidney disease. He comes from a family that faces extraordinary challenges. Both of his parents suffer from severe hearing loss and speech impairment. They work as municipality sweepers, earning about ₹10,000 per month. Navin and his older sibling help their parents communicate during hospital visits and in everyday life. Despite financial hardship and communication challenges, the family never miss Navin's hospital appointments, blood tests or regular medication.

Navin & his parents at CMC Vellore

CMC's Paediatric Nephrology team diagnosed Navin with severe kidney failure. He spent three weeks in hospital and underwent repeated haemodialysis. Though his parents could not hear his cries of pain, they understood every expression of fear and every smile of hope.

Every relapse means missed school for Navin, lost wages for his parents, and rising medical and travel expenses. Thanks to CMC's charitable funds, including PTP, Navin could receive the life-saving treatment he needed. Your generosity saves lives of children like Navin.

Thank you for your thoughtful giving!
