Your contribution to PTP helps people like Manish...

Manish* is from a village in the state of Jharkhand. He lives with his wife and son who is studying in grade 10. Manish supports his family by working as a daily wage laborer in construction sites.

Earlier this year, Manish developed chest pain and breathing difficulty. The exertion of manual labour made his pain worse. With frequent fevers and coughing, he struggled to go to work. A close family friend advised him to visit CMC Vellore. Together, Manish and his friend made the long train journey from Jharkhand to Tamil Nadu.

It took a few weeks for our doctors to diagnose Manish's medical condition as pancytopenia. Though he had a significant reduction in his blood cell count, it was possible to treat his underlying condition. He plans to come back to CMC for follow up visits.
