Social Awareness Programme

Organised by Amity University Raipur

Amity University Raipur, a premier institution known for academic excellence and holistic student development, has once again demonstrated its unwavering commitment to nation-building through its transformative Social Awareness Programme. This initiative was a shining example of youth-led activism, aiming to inspire, educate, and empower communities while fostering a spirit of social responsibility among students.

At the heart of this initiative was the Pro Bono Club, a prestigious student-led body under the School of Law. The club champions access to justice and legal empowerment for all, and during the programme, its members conducted several legal aid and awareness campaigns in villages and semi-urban areas. These interactive sessions covered crucial topics such as women's rights, child protection laws, cyber safety, consumer rights, and domestic violence laws. Through free legal counselling and simplified legal education, the club has become a beacon of hope for the underrepresented and marginalised.

Adding further depth to the programme was the active involvement of the National Service Scheme (NSS), which has long been a pillar of social outreach at Amity Raipur. The NSS volunteers undertook a variety of impactful activities, including:

- Clean India Campaigns (Swachh Bharat Abhiyan) in local communities,
- Tree plantation drives promoting sustainability and green living,
- Health awareness camps in association with local medical practitioners,
- Menstrual hygiene awareness sessions aimed at busting myths and taboos,
- Blood donation camps that witnessed overwhelming participation from students and faculty.

These initiatives highlighted the commitment of Amity University to not only educate minds but also to uplift lives.

One of the most captivating aspects of the Social Awareness Programme was the use of performative arts as a medium for change. Students from various departments came together to organise powerful street plays (nukkad natak) and high-energy flash mobs in public spaces like city squares, markets, and educational institutions. These performances, rooted in themes such as:

- Gender equality and women's empowerment
- Mental health awareness
- Anti-drug campaigns
- Save the Girl Child (Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao)
- Environmental conservation and climate change

left a lasting impression on the audience. With their emotive storytelling and compelling expressions, these young changemakers brought real societal issues into the limelight, sparking conversation and reflection among viewers.

Furthermore, the campaign received active support and encouragement from the university leadership. Senior faculty, deans, and department heads lauded the students' efforts and highlighted the importance of integrating social awareness into academic life. They reiterated Amity's core philosophy of producing not only professionals but also global citizens with a strong ethical foundation.

The programme culminated in a grand event held on campus, where students shared their experiences, challenges, and the impact they witnessed firsthand. Certificates of appreciation were awarded to outstanding contributors, and community representatives expressed heartfelt gratitude for the university's continuous engagement.

Through this vibrant, dynamic, and purpose-driven program, Amity University Raipur has once again demonstrated that education is not confined to classrooms; it is a powerful tool for transforming society. The Social Awareness Programme has ignited a sense of purpose and passion in hundreds of students, motivating them to become lifelong advocates of positive change. As the university continues to scale new heights in academics, research, and innovation, it also remains deeply rooted in its mission to serve society—with compassion, courage, and commitment.
