EDITORIAL 2020-21

It gives us immense pleasure to present the Annual Report of SNDT Women's University for the academic year 2020-21. The focus of the annual report is to highlight academic activities of various postgraduate departments and conducted colleges. The faculty members along with the students organised and participated in conferences, seminars at national, international, state and local level.

Apart from the academic activities, all the staff members and students participated in co-curricular activities related to current issues. The report reflects that the aim of the University is to enhance academic performance of students and simultaneously make them responsible citizens of India. Youth Festival, sports activities, leadership camps organised for students help in gaining self-confidence and prepare them to face the world confidently. Under the Internship programme, the students gain practical knowledge of the workplace.

The annual report largely depicts the profiles and activities of the postgraduate departments of the University and the significant achievements of the members of the faculty and students. It highlights all the programmes organised during 2020-21 aiming to fulfill the motto of the University _An Enlightened Woman is a Source of Infinite Strength'.

Foreword by Hon'ble Vice Chancellor

This year was unlike any other, with unprecedented challenges posed by the global pandemic, COVID-19. The pandemic taught us quite a few lessons but as we navigated through these uncertain times, SNDT Women's University and my team stood strong in its commitment to providing uninterrupted exceptional education to our students. We are and will always be committed to fostering an inclusive, sensitive, and technologically adept learning environment for all our students irrespective of the challenges faced and I can proudly claim that we at SNDT Women's University were successful in our goal.

It gives me immense sense of pride to present the annual report for the year 2020-21 as this report bears testimony to the dedication, resilience, and collaborative spirit of the faculty staff and students of SNDT Women's University. It reflects our commitment to progress, inclusivity, and innovation. We are proud of our achievements in this transformative year and remain steadfast in our mission to empower women through quality education and by providing them with an enabling and nurturing environment. As is evident from the report, the faculty and students of SNDT Women's University explored diverse avenues of research and innovation, participated in various seminars, conferences and symposiums at the internal and national levels through the digital medium and kept the flame of enquiry and critical thinking kindled by our founder Maharshi Dhondo Keshav Karve alive even during the testing times. We were able to quickly adapt to the online mode not just in conducting lectures but were also successful in conducting examinations and declaring results in record time. We were also successful in collaborating with national and international agencies to further the cause of education and empowerment for women.

SNDT Women's University has always had the distinction of going out of its way to contribute to society and even during these trying times our faculty and students through our NCC and NSS units volunteered to spread awareness about the pandemic, its effects and possible ways to mitigate the risk. Our nursing faculty and students volunteered in hospital wards.

As we step into the new post-pandemic era, we acknowledge that the world has been forever transformed. The blending of ICT tools with our pedagogical approach and the cultivation of sensitivity and awareness among our academic community will continue to be our guiding principles. We are committed to shaping the future of our students, equipping them with the skills, knowledge, and values necessary to succeed and make a positive impact in an ever- changing world.

Highlights 2020-21

SNDT Women's University is the first Women's university in India as well as in South-East Asia. The University was founded by Maharshi Dr. Dhondo Keshav Karve in 1916 for a noble cause of Women's Education. The first five women graduated in 1921 from this University. The University Headquarters is in Churchgate Campus, Mumbai and the other two campuses of this University are at Juhu, Mumbai and Karve Road, Pune.

In a century old existence, the university has grown into a multidisciplinary institution hosting diverse professional, technical and liberal arts programmes from K12 to PhD. SNDTWU is probably one such university where there is Nursery school as laboratory for Human Development Department, Centres for Women's Studies, Inclusion and Exclusion, Distance Education, and has affiliated institutions for doctoral programmes. Unlike most university's in the country which have to have state jurisdiction, SNDTWU is unique in terms of jurisdiction. SNDTWU can affiliate colleges/institutions anywhere in India with prior consent from the State Government.

SNDT Women's University is committed to the cause of women's empowerment through access to education, particularly higher education, through relevant courses in the formal and non-formal streams. The university is committed to meet the changing socio-economic needs, with human values and purposeful social responsibility and to achieve excellence with "Quality in every Activity" through vocational and professional courses for women. The motto of the university is "An enlightened woman is a source of infinite strength". There are six institutions recognized by SNDTWU for Ph. D. Research. SNDTWU is a home to 1100 teaching and non-teaching staff members and 50,000 students spread across seven states and a union territory.

SNDT Women's University stands 32nd amongst multi-disciplinary universities of India ranked fourth in Western India according to the Week-Hansa Research ranking of 2020.

SNDT WOMEN'S UNIVERSITY

Bharatratna Maharshi Dhondo Keshav Karve

(18.4.1858 – 9.11.1962)

SNDT Women's University established in 1916 heralded the beginning of formal higher education for women in India and South-East Asia. The institution was the realization of the dream of the founder, Bharatratna Maharshi Dr. Dhondo Keshav Karve's vision for the empowerment of women. This was possible with the financial support of the philanthropist Sir Vitthal Das Thackersey. The headquarters of the University is at the Churchgate campus in Mumbai and the other two campuses are located at Juhu, Mumbai and Maharshi Karve Road, Pune.

Founder of the University

Bharatratna Maharshi Dhondo Keshav Karve (April 18, 1858 - Nov 9, 1962) was a Humanist, an evangel of emancipation both for Hindu widows and for womanhood at large. A pioneering figure moved by the magnificent instinct that upheld the progress of womanhood as the purest and surest test of the progress of civilization, the establishment of Shreemati Nathibai Damodar Thackersey Indian Women's University was the culmination of an odyssey, which began with the establishment of Hindu Widow's Home Association in 1896 and the Mahila Vidyalaya in 1907. The Women's University was sculpted along the lines of the Women's University in Tokyo. The founding father advocated women's education as instrumental in women's empowerment by enabling them to be economically independent and to be able to think for themselves.

Presidential Address By
Maharshi Dhondo Keshav
Karve at
29th Indian National Social Congress
December 30,
1915

Excerpts from Presidential Address on
'Need for establishing Women's University'

Maharshi Karve was invited to deliver Presidential address at the Indian National Social Congress on December 30, 1915 held in Mumbai. Here he first presented his thoughts on the need for Higher Education – A University for women.

Coming now to practical questions that are constantly knocking at our social doors for solution, I must say at the outset that to my mind the greatest need of Indian Society at the present day is education. I do not know if you will all agree with me in placing education at the fore-front of social questions. It may, perhaps it does, have a political aspect. But looking at it socially, want of education is the one canker that has been eating up the vitals of India. If there is injustice and wrong in society, it is because society is mostly buried deep in ignorance. Evil is the offspring of darkness and there can be no darkness blacker than that of ignorance. No wonder if Indian social world appeared to an outsider to be a scene of discord and division. What else can it be when that light which reduces all chaos to order is denied to it? Ninety per cent of the population live and move and have their being without any opportunity of drinking at the living fountain of knowledge. The inner eye with them is never opened. Life to them is no more, no higher, than a struggle of hungry creatures where might has a right to crush all weakness out of existence. The first thing that we ought to look to therefore is universal education. No readjustment of the social polity is possible unless every man, woman and child in the land is able at least to read, write and reckon. On the political platform the cause of universal elementary education was first emphatically espoused by my friend, the late Hon'ble Mr. G.K. Gokhale, and I hope, the late patriot's efforts backed by the unanimous voice of the country will not fail ultimately to bear fruit. But we cannot afford to wait till the Government of the land are pleased to take up the question. We ought to bestir ourselves to supplement the endeavours of government wherever we can.

We are, however more closely concerned here with the education of women and I am afraid, little that may perceptibly count has yet been done in the matter. As early as in 1854 the importance of this branch of education was recognized by the Government, for in that year the memorable despatch on education came, paragraph 83 of which contains the following oft-quoted sentences:

“The importance of female education in India cannot be overrated; and we have observed with pleasure the evidence which is now afforded of an increased desire on the part of many of the natives of India to give a good education to their daughters. By this means a far greater proportional impulse is imparted to the educational and moral tone of the people than by the education of men.”

Permit me now, ladies and gentlemen, to place before you approximately my idea of secondary and higher education for women. It is based fundamentally upon the recognition of two principles. (1) That the most natural and therefore efficient medium of instruction is the learner’s mother tongue. (2) And secondly, that women as a class have different functions to fulfill in the social economy from those of men.

These two principles will commend themselves to all dispassionate thinkers and have been accepted by educational experts. Whenever the day for the wholesale adoption of vernaculars as media of instruction through-out the whole educational course for boys comes, we ought not to wait for it in the case of girls. There are no political or economic reasons present and the sooner we begin to impart all education primary, secondary higher to girls through the vernaculars, the better, it will be for the race. The second principle too is of vital importance. I do not mean that the way should be rigorously barred against those, whose ambition would be to beat men on their own ground and complete with them for prizes and honours in the existing Universities. Those who would be in a position by intellectual, physical and financial equipment to do so, would certainly be glorious ornaments to their kind and also to the whole community in the present conditions. But we must recognize that both national and social economy required that women should occupy a station of their own distinct from that of men. That they are as integral a part of the social organism as men, is beyond question, but that the office they have to fill is different, though equal perhaps greater in importance is equally true. If men and women therefore, are to be fitted by education to bear their own respective shares in the preservation, development and evolution towards perfection of the whole community, they must be brought up on two different lines. The differentiation in the educational courses must correspond in time and nature approximately to the differentiation in their conscious individuality. This does not imply, let me assure you that the two lines of education should be absolutely independent of each other and mutually exclusive. For after all, whether men or women, they are member of mankind and as such they are at bottom one. In social functions, in life's responsibility and in spheres of work they may differ; but in spirit, in humanity they are one. As far, therefore, as the development and unfolding of their common human nature is concerned, their education must take a common form and shape. They both have to work together hand in hand side by side towards the attainment of the ultimate purpose of the race in the order of creation and have therefore certain common endowments. To call them into play, to foster the instincts, impulses, emotions and faculties, their education too must be common. All the latter differentiation must have under it, about it and within it the common life and soul. In fact, the courses must be like two branches on one and the same stem and must be fed and sustained by the same vital sap. Neither men's nor women's education, therefore, can be sound if it absolutely dissociated from the other. The two must be correlated and co-ordinated must be wedded so as to be two in order to be one.

In framing these secondary and higher courses of studies, we may be guided by the Japan Women's University. A prudent and practical Japanese thinker and worker, Mr. Naruse, conceived the idea of this University and with immense patience and perseverance made it a success to the great advantage of the Japanese nation. So far as our women are concerned our circumstances are very similar to those of Japan and we can profitably turn for guidance to institutions conducted by those people rather than to schools and colleges for women in the West. Mr. Naruse saw in what condition Japanese women were and he pitched his hopes accordingly. He writes:-

"Our aim in establishing the Women's University is neither to copy the higher institutions for women in America and Europe, nor to rival the men's university courses in this country. What we aim at is so to frame our schedules of study as to suit the mental and physical conditions of women at present and to gradually raise the standard in accordance with general progress.”

To suit Indian conditions, we shall perhaps have to make a still humbler beginning than the Japanese did. We should devise a course of secondary education for women so adjusted that by the time a girl attains the age of fifteen or sixteen, she should be enabled to complete it. Parents are sure to postpone marriage of their daughter for a year or two if an educational distinction is near at hand for her. This age also is likely to be minimum age of marriage of girls in advanced Indian communities in the very near future.

In devising our courses on these lines, we ought not to make an abrupt departure. The new high school courses for girls ought to be, for the present, accommodated to the courses now in force. They should be complete in themselves for those who, at the close of their high school education will, enter upon their worldly tasks. They should be of a preparatory nature for those who will choose to go to in for higher grades in a vernacular college, while they should also be so framed that girls with the necessary intelligence and ambition may find it easily possible to go in for the matriculation of the present Universities after a couple of years' further preparation.

It will certainly mean an educational experiment, and we may reasonably expect Government to take the lead here as they have done in agriculture. I am aware the finances of Government at the present day are the most strained owing to the abnormal conditions created by the war in Europe, and instead of undertaking new financial responsibilities they would be anxious to use the scissors wherever they could. In these circumstances all that may be legitimately expected of them is the setting apart of a part of their ordinary allotment to the education of women, for making a small beginning in that direction. It will even be a great thing if they set it down as one of the most urgent schemes of the day, to be taken up before everything else when normal times return. Let us hope and pray they soon will. That our empire is bound in the end to come victoriously out of the present struggle, every one of us cannot but be confident. For our cause is righteous. It is only for the early termination of the war that we have to pray.

But even if Government be favourably disposed in the matter their wheels often are too slow to move. It is already late. To wait any longer will be almost suicidal. I would appeal therefore to Indian States, to public bodies, to private Institutions and to men interested in the social amelioration of the country, to take up the matter without further delay, and start experiments which are bound to succeed if only they are pursued with a firm grip. They will yet save the situation if they lose no time in empty discussions. Let them set to work practically. When they have some work already done to show, I feel sure, Government will not be tardy in extending their helping hand to them. The matter is of such grave urgency and far reaching import, that I would urge it on the Conference to take it in hand and to appoint a committee to formulate a scheme with all its details clearly reasoned out and to suggest ways and means to found vernacular high schools and colleges on the lines here advocated. Women's education has sufficiently advanced now for us to take the step.

23.3 Efforts taken to enhance the quality of teaching-learning;

- 1) Online teaching through google link.
- 2) Interaction with students through whats app.
- 3) Use of videos.
- 4) Google classroom

As the teaching was conducted through Online Mode ; used to be in communication with the Visiting Faculties and students on one to one basis so to find out the problems

During the pandemic Covid-19, to facilitate smooth and innovative teaching learning, CT Teaching learning methods are adopted as teaching learning methods through LMS, google classroom and shared learning resources and use of social media, online database. Learner Centric Teaching Learning Methods are used to enhance research skill, analytical skill and problem solving and decision making skills of the students. The classes were conducted in online mode due to Covid19 Pandemic. The ICT tools such as google classroom, google form etc. were applied here. Especially in online learning to put students attentive was a difficult task. So to make them attentive small presentations, projects, debates discussions, showing clips, short films and documentaries were undertaken. Maximum efforts were taken to make one to one dialogue to keep the students connected . To enrich their knowledge Online Guest Lectures, Webinars, Seminars were conducted. Teachers attended sessions to create online classes and incorporate in teaching learning. Even though the mode was online due to pandemic, all learner activities such as workshops, research were conducted. Interactive tools and strategies were used in online mode. The entire instruction was learner-centred. No compromise on syllabus was done. All recordings of the sessions were shared with students.

કોરોના વાઈરસ (કોવિડ-19) નિવારણ

તમારી સલામતીને પ્રથમિકતા બનાવો

1 સ્વચ્છતા
તમારા હાથને વારંવાર સાબુ અને પાણીથી ધોઈ લો. જો તમારી પાસે આ વસ્તુઓ નથી, તો પછી આલ્કોહોલ આધારિત હેન્ડ સેનિટાઇઝરનો ઉપયોગ કરો.

2 સામાજિક અંતર
બીમાર લોકો સાથે હાથ ન ઢબાવો. ખોટો સંપર્ક ટાળો (લોકો થી 6 ફૂટ રહો)

3 તમારા મોં અને નાકને ઢાકી દો
જ્યારે તમને ઉધરસ આવે કે છીંક આવે ત્યારે તમારા મોં અને નાકને રૂમાલથી ઢાકી દો. જો તમારી પાસે રૂમાલ ન હોય તો ઉધરની સ્વીચમાં અથવા કોશીમાં છીંકો. તમારા હાથનો ઉપયોગ ન કરો.

4 સ્વચ્છ અને જંતુમુક્ત
જંતુનાશક પદાર્થની મદદથી વારંવાર સપાટીને સાફ અને જંતુનાશક કરો.

5 ઘરે રહો
જ્યારે તમે બીમાર હો અથવા અસ્વસ્થતા અનુભવતા હો ત્યારે ઘરે રહો. બિનજરૂરી રીતે ઘરની બહાર જવાનું ટાળો.

6 ડોક્ટરની મુલાકાત લો
જો તમને તાવ, ઉધરસ અને શ્વાસ લેવામાં તકલીફ હોય તો ઝડપથી તબીબી સહાય મેળવવો.
