

Parag Parikh Global Investing Strategy (PPGIS)

Importance of Global Investing

India represents just 5% of global market cap, expanding beyond India opens doors to a far wider range of high-quality businesses and sectors.

Allocating across multiple economies lowers dependence on single country's policy environment, business cycle, or macro volatility.

Many innovation cycles, global consumption trends, and scalable business models develop outside India - offering growth opportunities not available domestically.

Access to companies with strong governance, global scale, and superior ROIC characteristics that consistently compound wealth over long periods.
