As testament to our success over a short period of time, in March 2016, JGU was awarded the highest 'A' rating by the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC), India's national accreditation body.

JGU is located in the National Capital Region of Delhi. It has a state-of-the-art, self-sufficient and residential campus, housing about 4400 students, more than 334 faculty members, and 350 staff members. In a short span of nine years, JGU has established eight interdisciplinary schools offering undergraduate, postgraduate and doctoral degree programmes – Jindal Global Law School, Jindal Global Business School, Jindal School of International Affairs, Jindal School of Government & Public Policy, Jindal School of Liberal Arts & Humanities, Jindal School of Journalism & Communication, Jindal School of Art and Architecture and Jindal School of Banking and Finance – and other research and capacity building institutes.

Jindal School of International Affairs

Jindal School of International Affairs (JSIA) is India's first global policy school. JSIA has been offering a 2-year Master's degree in Diplomacy, Law and Business - M.A. (DLB) since 2011. The B.A. (Hons.) Global Affairs programme was launched in the Academic Year 2015-16. It has been designed as India's first ever interdisciplinary undergraduate degree to train students for international careers through basic learning in world affairs. JSIA has now opened admissions to the B.A. (Hon.) Global Affairs programme for the academic year 2019-20 (classes for 2019 batch will commence on 1st August 2019).

The increasing interconnectedness of international phenomena due to greater density of cross border contact and exchanges is rendering the practical and academic use of single-disciplined and methodologically incomplete studies obsolete. A school that combines the essences of International Relations, International Law and International Business is a necessity of our globalized times because of the density and thickness of international problems.

The Jindal School of International Affairs (JSIA) aims to provides students most up-to-date education and enhance Indian and international capacities of analysing and solving world problems. It intends to strengthen the intellectual basis for planning India's march to great power status as a responsible member of the international community with its own trademark vision for global governance and stable world order.

Six reasons to study B.A. (Hons) Global Affairs

- To acquire a holistic understanding of international political theory and greater understanding of international affairs.
- To develop a specialized field of knowledge by choosing one of the several available fields of knowledge tracks.
- To develop an in-depth understanding of a region by opting for various study abroad programmes available with top ranking educational institutions across the globe.
- To apply systematic methodological research and analysis, and historically contextualize contemporary global events.
- To develop the ability to think, work, study and conduct research independently.
- To develop a wide range of intellectual, practical and language skills which will enable programme graduates to consider a wide range of post-graduation employment options.

Programme Modalities

- The B.A. (Hons.) (Global Affairs) is a 3-year programme. It is an on-campus residential, full-time, five-day-a-week degree programme. Students graduate with B.A. (Hons.) (G.A.) at the end of 3 years.
- Foreign language training is an essential requirement and language classes are offered throughout the duration of the programme. Students have the option of choosing among Mandarin Chinese, French, Spanish, Arabic, Persian/Dari and Italian.
- Optional Fourth Year: Students can opt to continue in JSIA after graduation to study the Masters in Diplomacy, Law and Business and to become eligible to apply to American Universities for a Master's degree.

Study Plan

Year 1 - During the first year of coursework, emphasis is on making sure that students acquire strong foundations in the social sciences. They will read the classic texts in Philosophy, focus on key concepts in Economics, and review the main outlines of global politics in History. Most importantly, they will rigorously practice expressing themselves both in writing and in speech to learn how to effectively communicate their ideas.

Year 2 - In the second year, JSIA's faculty will begin pushing students to develop solid research and analytical skills so that they can begin to take control over their own learning. The faculty would like them to find something that they are passionate about and become a specialist on it. Students' increasingly advanced coursework will help as they start examining how politics plays out in specific regions of the world. They will also be moving from the general to the more specific as they enter into new sub-disciplines like Foreign Policy Analysis, Conflict Studies, and Development Studies.

Year 3 - By the third year, students will deeply immerse themselves in the nitty gritty of contemporary global politics. How do individual international organizations work? How do diplomats operate on a day-to-day basis? Are changes in military technology fundamentally reshaping the global balance of power? Under what circumstances is international trade a benefit to societies? What is the role of media in today's networked world? The coursework at JSIA can be supplemented with an international exchange in a different part of the world, which will give you first-hand experience with the world's diversity.
