

eVidyaloka
To Educate - Anywhere Anytime

PRONOUNS
I YOU HE IT WE

ADJECTIVES
e i o u

VERB

NOUNS

Prepositions

Grammar

by eVidyaloka

Grandma Comes Visiting

Vidya and Alok were eagerly waiting for their Grandmother to visit them today. They walked hurriedly after school and reached home.

Mother told them that their grandmother's train was running late, and would only reach by evening, so she would be home for dinner with all of them.

Vidya and Alok decided to help their mother prepare dinner, as they knew it would be something special. And indeed it was, as Mother was making everyone's favourite 'Gaajar ka Halwa' for their after-dinner treat.

They began helping her excitedly. Alok washed the carrots nicely, and handed them over to Vidya, who peeled them carefully, and gave them to her mother.

She grated them finely, and put in a few nuts gently in the pot. Suddenly, the entire kitchen smelt sweet with the aroma.

Alok watched her pouring the milk slowly in the vessel, and the carrots started turning soft while being cooked in it. Vidya offered to add sugar and added a little extra.

She informed her mother quietly, who told her patiently that as a child, even she had made that mistake.

They all laughed loudly, as Alok sprinkled the nuts slowly on top, as the final touch to the halwa.

