

The Punjab Public School, Nabha

Eagle's Eyrie

November, 2016

Issue No.7

Welcome Back and get set go for Exams....

Greetings! Welcome back after the Diwali break. I hope everyone had a joyful, refreshing and a safe Diwali. With the terminal exams approaching (or finals in case of class 11 and 9), everyone is suddenly all serious and studious. After almost an entire month of fun and frolic, the school is back to the study mode. The Founders' Day Celebrations, Diwali and IPSC athletic meet being over, the school is finally out of the festive mood. It seems the board class students have put on their blinkers now, as everyone who never cared to carry books to the class are found paying attention to the teachers now. Like the entire world, the school is also in the dilemma of what's happening around the world, Rs. 500 and 1000 notes being banned, Donald Trump being elected the President of USA. The students can be heard discussing the hot topics and giving their judgements with self- assumed authority and pretending to be intellectual.

On a separate note, our first day back in school, the Headmaster congratulated everyone on the success of the 57th Founders' Day Celebrations. Indeed, the hard work put in by the staff and students proved to be fruitful. The Chief Guest for the occasion, His Excellency Shri V P Singh Badnore in his speech complimented staff and students for an excellent show and said that he is proud to say that this school lacks nothing.

Also, congratulations to the Athletics team of the school for lifting the All India IPSC Athletics trophy in the boys' category for the fifth time in a row. Their sacrifice of the Diwali break paid off. Kudos to the entire team!

Pick up your books and get ready for sleepless nights and never ending class tests.....Wishing everyone a good luck for the upcoming examinations!

Palak Garg (XII-A(I))

IN RUBARU WITH

MR. M S CHADHA (HOD -ENGLISH)

Q1. What prompted you to become an English teacher?

A. As a student in school, I had never thought of becoming a teacher. My parents desired that I should join N.D.A. and my aim was to join the defence forces. It was Miss Malkani, who taught our class and infused in me the love for English language and teachers like Mr. P.N. Onial and Mr. R.D. Chandola created in me love for literature. While pursuing Post-Graduation in English, I started making up my mind to become an English teacher.

Q2. How do you think the students have evolved over the years?

A. Students of the present day are much smarter than those of our times. They are more advanced, well equipped and eager to learn new things due to technology.

Q3. Is there something you'd like to share with us which people don't know about you?

A. My grandfather, Shri Bishan Das "Birhon" was an eminent Punjabi poet. I think I have also inherited this love for literature. Another interesting thing I would like to share is that I was the Housemaster of Jumna House for five years and the House became Cock House for five years, I was Housemaster of Middle Ravi-Sutlej for two years and Middle Ravi became Cock House for two years and I was the Housemaster of Senior Jumna for four years and the House became Cock House for all of those years.

Q4. Your favourite pass time.

A. Listening to music, taking photographs, reading poetry and facebook.

Q5. Any fond memory of your childhood.

A. A very fond memory is, when my father received the letter that I was selected for admission at PPS as Punjab Government Scholar. Our joy and happiness had no bounds.

Q6. What are your views about the newsletter? (Please be critical)

A. A good platform for the students to exhibit their journalistic talent. At the same time I would like to point out that the newsletter should reach everyone in the school campus. The editors should express their views freely.

RAPID FIRE:

A. Headmaster – The greatest visionary and educationist the school has ever had. His power of motivation is unparalleled.

B. Deputy Headmaster – A man of novel ideas, eager to put them forward.

C. Bursar- Speedily acclimatising in the new envisions

D. Favourite Song- School Song

E. A superpower you'd like to have- Don't believe in super powers. Hard work is the only power I believe in.

F. Life at PPS- Very hectic, all are on their toes.

G. If given a choice, what will you prefer as a reward- Bonus, Monetary perks or a long Holiday? – None of them but appreciation of my hard work.

Vansh Dhama and Palak Garg

Penning down the Poet's way....

Go on.....

Life is a hard rock, but you still have to sow in seeds

Sow in seeds with your good deeds,
there will be times when you get
low,

but still you need to go on

Go on to the heights of sun,
go on, to the most lengthy run,

go on, the to get your bun go on, even if people make your fun

you just have to go on...

Life is hard a hard rock, but you still
have to sow in seeds

Sow in seeds with your good deeds,

There will be fast blowing winds in
your path,

There will be darkness in your path,
Its only you who can find light in the dark

Your life is like an amusement park,
but who know the roller coaster of
your stops in the dark,
who knows your your amusement
park becomes so dark?

that you get confuse even recognize
your own amusement park,

so dark that can't see which way to walk on the dark will come when it will come ,

but you still have to go on.....

go on and go on....

Walk on even if you stumble to the rocks in the dark

but the day will come when you finally reach your real
amusement park,

making your way through the dark,
the day will come when you get to
your final task

the day will come when people will ask when people will ask

who is this person under the mask
people will wonder is that the same man!

but to be that person you have to go on..

just go on.....

Life is hard a hard rock, but you still
have to sow in seeds

Sow in seeds with your good deeds....

Jafardeep Singh

Birthday Bells....Happy birthday to...

First birthday at PPS - Mr Ankur Samuel Birkett, Bursar- 21-11-2016

Hony Capt Som Singh- 15-11-2016

Mrs Seema Rani Dhiman, Mrs Kiran Sharma, Mr Amandeep Singh- 23-11-2016

Mrs Renu Sharma-25-11-2016

Mrs Tanuja Singh-26-11-2016

Dhol beats couldn't keep them away

Students from Doon School (Dehradun) Couldn't resist to shake their leg- with Nabhaites

Published by- The Punjab Public School, Nabha

Editors- Vansh Dhama

Crew- Palak Garg, Kunal Demla, Keshav

Design Master- Mr Lovkesh S Vermani

Email id-eyriepps@gmail.com

Contact No- +91 93-16-780242