Report :

B.A.Programme is an academically less burdensome course which allows the students to take coaching classes or any other short term courses side by side during their graduation without having to take a toll on their college studies. This aspect is extremely beneficial for UPSC aspirants. BA is most popular among students of Humanities and there are various specializations under BA Humanities

One of the most popular career options after BA is doing a Masters of Arts in your preferred areas an excellent choice to postgraduate degrees, which BA graduates can join to pursue higher studies.

You'll mainly learn about your chosen subjects in detail. MA programs are perfect for those who want to M.Phil., and doctorate programs allows you to expand your PG in Humanities knowledge of a specific domain and get more advanced options in those sectors. For example, you can become a historian if you do a MA in History. On the other hand, if you want to become an economist, then you can get an MA in Economics. It enable you to face all the UPPSC, APPSC and other competitive exams. To join in Teaching Fraternity you can write NET/SET or TET.
