ABOUT DHAMTARI

Dhamtari, situated in the fertile plains of Mahanadi, is a city known for its rich cultural heritage and historical significance. Established as a municipality in 1881, it has evolved Into a vibrant urban center. The city is renowned for its temples, such as the Vindhyavasini and Angarmoti temples, which are significant cultural landmarks. Dhamtari is also famous for its Maratha community, one of the largest gatherings of Marathas in any state of India. The district is home to the Ravishankar Sagar Dam (Gangrel Dam), a major Irrigation source and a popular tourist destination.

ABOUT THE COLLEGE

On 9th June, 1981, the Higher Education Department of the Government of Madhya Pradesh took over and Integrated Nootan colleges and Dhamtari science, arts and commerce college leading to the formation of Government College Dhamtari. The college campus spans 27.70 acres. In December 1995, the college was granted the status of a postgraduate institution. To honour the renowned freedom fighter Babu Chhotelal Shrivastava and preserve his memory, the government renamed the college in 1995. Today, it is known as Babu Chhotelal Shrivastava Government P.G. College, Dhamtari. The college is accredited by NAAC with grade B+.
